4 Simple steps to your new kitchen

Use this guide to measure, plan and understand what you need to create your dream kitchen. We have also included graph paper, unit guides and a checklist at the back of this brochure, to help you plan your ideal space.

Step 1

Measure your space

Step 2

Plan what goes where

Step 3

Buy in store or online

Step 4

Install your new kitchen

Step 1

Measure and draw your space

All your planning - and therefore the success of your new kitchen - is based on your measurements. Ensure to take your measurements in millimetres (mm) as our ranges are shown in this.

1. Measure from the floor to the ceiling (see image A)
2. Then measure the distance from wall to wall (see image A)
3. Measure from the corner to the door(s) frames (see image A)
4. Now measure each window and door from the frame, plus their distance from the floor, the ceiling, and the corner of the room (see image B)
5. Make a note of everything that sticks out into the room, such as switches and pipes. There's a checklist on the graph paper
6. Finally, note what can and can't be moved, and what you'd like to stay

Wickes

Hints & Tips

Take your measurements in millimetres (mm) as our ranges use this measurement too.

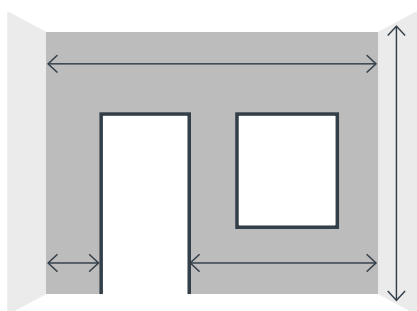

Image A

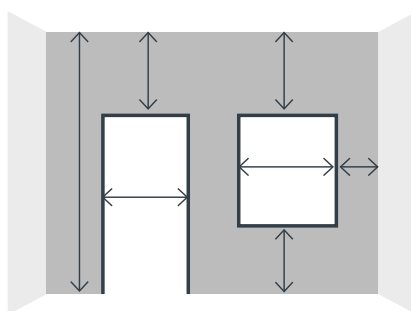

Image B

Wickes

Hints & Tips

Because walls aren't always completely square, especially in older houses, it's a good idea to take multiple measurements for each surface.

You should draw a front on and bird's-eye view of each wall.

Example front-on view

Example birds-eye view

Step 2

Plan what goes where

Now the dream can start becoming reality. There's lots to think about, including what you'd like to keep and what you want to replace. Always start planning from the corner outwards. A closed corner base unit needs to be stepped out 125mm and a closed corner wall unit stepped out 25mm.

The working zones

Plan your kitchen around the idea of a working triangle of three zones, having what you use the most in easy reach of each other. Each zone should ideally be equal in distance from each other.

● Food storage zone

Includes the fridge, freezer and dry storage

Consider the amount of storage you'll need, including the size of the fridge and freezer. A worktop near the fridge is really handy for unpacking the shopping, and for cooking.

● Cooking zone

Includes the oven, hob, microwave and where you cook

It's handy to have the cooking zone close to the sink so you're not carrying hot things far. Allow worktop space for food preparation and utensils.

● Washing zone

The sink and dishwasher

Plan everything that needs plumbing next to each other and/or along the same wall. Keep the fridge close to the sink for washing fruit and veg. Also, keeping the worktop above the dishwasher free of appliances leaves space for stacking and unloading dishes.

Wickes

Hints & Tips

Improve accessibility with pull-out cabinets and corner options, including floor and ceiling larder cupboards.

Think about your working triangle

Important things to think about...

The oven and hob

The best place for preparing food? The work surface between the hob and the sink.

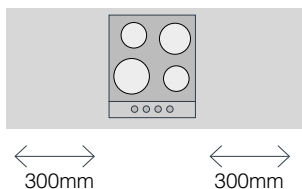

Putting your hob and oven in separate places gives more space for storage. An elevated oven means you don't have to bend down to use it. However, it will use up worktop space in a small kitchen. Opt for a Built Under oven if worktop space is a priority.

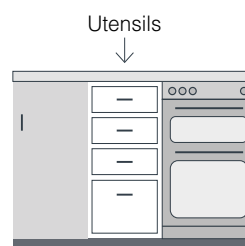

When installing your hood above your hob, follow the manufacturer's recommended height guide. Ask us if you have questions.

An oven next to the wall limits your workspace and puts your walls at risk from heat and stains.

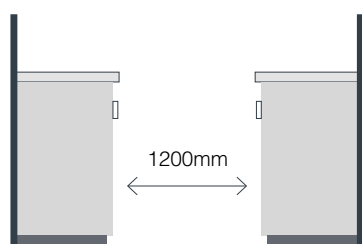

Leave space for taking hot pans off the hob and putting them down quickly on the side. Always use a trivet to protect your work surface.

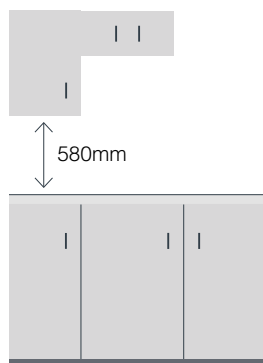

Keep your pots, pans and utensils near the oven so that they're within easy reach.

Storage

Make sure the distance between opposite rows of cabinets is wide enough that both doors can open fully at the same time. Where this gap cannot be achieved, consider using wall units instead of base units as they're shallower. Allow for 800mm minimum walkthrough clearance.

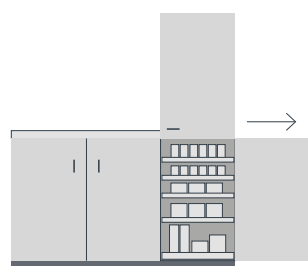

Plan the height of the wall cabinets so that they don't block the view over the worktop.

Wickes

Hints & Tips

Don't forget panels, plinths and trims to finish off your kitchen.

Finding things in your kitchen is easy when groceries and utensils are in fully extendable drawers and a pull-out pantry.

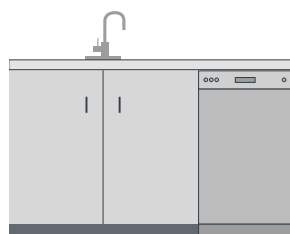

Fit a decor panel between a cabinet and the wall so drawers and doors can open fully.

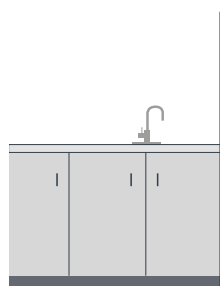

Overhangs of 300mm or less do not need extra support.

The sink

Put the dishwasher close to the sink and draining board to minimise spills when unloading and loading.

A sink against a wall or at the end of a row of cabinets limits the amount of space you have to cook, prep, and hold dirty pots.

Most people like to have the sink under the window. Check that yours does not open inwards, as it could get blocked by the tap.

Once you're happy with your plan, you're ready to order your items.
